

Recruiting Law Student Interns for Spring 2021

What We Do: CRREA Project works closely with consumer advocates, policymakers, academics, and others to transfer knowledge about effective regulatory advocacy across these communities. We also report on developments at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB).

What We Care About: CRREA Project believes that regulatory advocacy is an effective and underutilized lever to promote racial and economic equity. We seek to hold CFPB and other regulatory agencies accountable to their obligations to serve consumers and chart a future path for economic justice.

Who We Are: CRREA Project is led by Diane Thompson, OSF Leadership in Government Fellow and former Deputy Assistant Director of the CFPB's Office of Regulations.

Experience and Qualifications: We are seeking law student candidates with:

- Demonstrated interest or experience in public policy and government.
- Experience with plain language writing for a mass audience.

We prefer to work with students who can obtain academic credit or a stipend through their law school for this experience, and who are available for 10+ hours per week.

Location and Schedule: This work is fully remote, and the work schedule is determined by the student's availability.

Materials and Deadlines: Please send your cover letter and resume to diane@crreaproject.org and kate@crreaproject.org.

Best consideration for applications received by November 6.

Learn More: Visit crreaproject.org

- Read our blog post on the CRREA Project intern experience: www.crreaproject.org/blog/internship_Spring2020
- Learn about the team: www.crreaproject.org/about-us
- Browse materials drafted or edited by prior law student interns: www.crreaproject.org/advocates